Growing New Business

Conklin Metal Industries has been a distributor of sheet metal, HVAC, and duct fabrication supplies for over 140 years. With 12 warehouses across the southeastern United States, they produce all of the metal needed for an installation of a complete residential or commercial HVAC system.

In 2017, Conklin Metal Industries began a search to improve their service and reliability on their steel processing. Safety, reliability, ease of use, and relationship with the vendor were the key factors in choosing Red Bud Industries. Conklin Metal's new Red Bud Industries Light Gage, High Speed Blanking Line includes a Recoiler, beading capabilities, and an integrated Continuous Stacker.

"The purchase of the Red Bud Industries Line has helped improve productivity, enhance processes and procedures, and provide the best possible quality to our customers. We know we can guarantee uptime because we have 24/7 service and have ongoing employee training to improve efficiency."
