COMPLETE COIL PROCESSING SOLUTIONS

My name is Tomasz Kotarba. I am one of the owners of a family-owned company, dealing with stainless steel. We are located in the southern part of Poland, and since 1992, we have been selling and processing stainless steel.

Our main customers are producers of high-quality kitchen furniture, producers for food industry, chemical industry, and all the other users of stainless steel.

Our first experience with stainless steel coil processing was connected mainly with Red Bud Industries. In fact, it was our first machine purchased to process coil. We decided on Red Bud Industries because of the unique technology of multi-blanking processing. In fact, there is no other producer in the world with such a big portfolio of customers. We went to the United States in 2014, and it was a very quick deal. We were able to negotiate the contract and finalize the order within two weeks.

The machine was delivered exactly on time or just before. Everything was professionally arranged, along with shipment, technical specification, and technical documents. What is unique in our case is the fact that we were installing the machine with our employees, who had no experience in coil processing.

Fortunately, the technical documents and all specifications provided by Red Bud Industries were so detailed that it was very easy to install that line with people without any experience and they could do it easily. During installation, Red Bud Industries was very helpful with its supervision.

The Multi-Blanking Line that we purchased from the United States is processing stainless steel coils from 0,4 to 3 mm thickness. Maximum weight of coil is almost 25 tons, and its slitting capacity is up to 8 cuts. Red Bud Industries' machine is very unique because of its care of the surface, especially the A side surface and B side surface. In fact, this is the only machine like this in Europe to process coils in order to produce blanks.

We are processing 45 000 tons of stainless steel on this machine annually. Fortunately, Red Bud Industries' 24-hour hotline allows us to solve any problem that appears within a few minutes. In fact, this is very unique because no other producer that I know for coil processing is offering such service. Additionally, parts availability in stock at Red Bud Industries is also without comparison to other producers in Europe.

We are very satisfied with the purchase of this machine for stainless steel from the United States. In fact, we have compared also with our producers, and I am sure that the next machine that we will purchase will be from Red Bud Industries.
