Wieland Metal Services in Parsippany, New Jersey, is a non-ferrous metals service center that provides coated aluminum, aluminum, copper and brass sheet, and strip products to the building, housing, transportation and other markets.

Prior to the purchase of their Red Bud Industries Multi-Blanking Line, Wieland Metal Services used multiple coil processing lines to create their customers desired end product. The Red Bud Multi-Blanking Line has enabled them to produce flat, multi-blanked material all on one coil processing line.

"We were able to condense what we were doing on two cut-to-length lines with the one Red Bud Line. It opened up space in our facility and increased production and efficiency. . . If you are looking for a highly capable, safe machine, increased throughput, and a quality product, then I would truly recommend Red Bud."
